The learning process that is designed for this subject is based on the following:

The cities and the territory stretching around them are complex systems. The systemic perspective is therefore present in the approach to the subject, including the study of each of the different elements of the system and their interrelations. Only from that systemic vision can be raised either the analysis of the urbanized territory as its management, which includes not only the planning of urban land but also the management of urbanized and metropolitan areas.
