4.Methodology, learning tasks, syllabus and resources

4.1.Methodological overview

The learning process designed for this course is based on an active methodology given that the student will work in a private or public organization. The student becomes the agent of their own learning through personal research and direct contact with the reality and the working group they has joined. This method is based on:

- A strong motivation in the learning process.
- A growing difficulty.
- The establishment of a bridge between academic theoretical abstraction and practical reality.
- The detection of errors.
- The student's autonomy.
- The acquisition of skills in the search for information.

4.2.Learning tasks

The course (16 ECTS: 400 hours) includes the following learning tasks:

- Work in the company (320 hours). The working hours are adapted to the needs of the internship company and the student. The distribution of the hours will be established between the student and the cooperating entity under the approval of the supervisor.
- Individual work (65 hours). The student will write a preliminary report and an academic report. The latter will be orally presented.
- Tutorials (15 hours). The student must attend at least three tutorials. First one at the beginning of the internship, second one being halfway of the internship (where the student will hand in the preliminary report) and the third one, when the internship has ended (where the student will hand in the academic report as well as presenting it orally to the supervisor).
