4.1. Methodological overview

Due to the practical nature of this course, most of the sessions will be devoted to exercises which deal with all the competences that the students are expected to develop. By means of a variety of individual and group tasks, not only will they learn the linguistic elements required for this development, but they will also, above all, practice the use of the English language as an instrument of oral and written communication in the contexts and situations specified with the objective of consolidating MCERL level A2.

4.2. Learning tasks

This is a 6 ECTS course organized as follows:

- Lectures. The explanation of various aspects of English included in the syllabus and exercises designed to work with them.
- Practice sessions. Sessions in which students apply the learned resources and strategies by means of listening, speaking, role-playing, discussion and other activities. They can also involve the explanation and correction of the mistakes made by the students in their written assignments concerning grammar, lexicon and structure.
- Autonomous work and study.
- Assessment tasks.
