

Academic Year/course: 2021/22

28505 - Civil Law elements

Syllabus Information

Academic Year: 2021/22

Subject: 28505 - Civil Law elements

Faculty / School: 108 - Facultad de Ciencias Sociales y del Trabajo

Degree: 428 - Degree in Labour Relations and Human Resources

ECTS: 6.0

Year: 1

Semester: First semester

Subject Type: Basic Education

Module:

1. General information

1.1. Aims of the course

The subject and its expected results respond to the following approaches and objectives:
Civil law regulates the legal field closest to the person and their individual, family and social. It facilitates a better global understanding of Law and its basic and instrumental concepts and It develops the ability of people to analyze problems of a legal dimension, and design solutions. The objective of the subject is a conceptual approach to the norms and private legal relations.

These approaches and objectives are aligned with the following Sustainable Development Goals:

2. Learning goals

3. Assessment (1st and 2nd call)

4. Methodology, learning tasks, syllabus and resources

4.1. Methodological overview

The learning process that has been designed for this subject is based on the active participation of the student, organized, directed and supervised by the teacher, and based on criteria of personal and reflective participation, active learning and critical attitude in legal matters.

If the planned capacity of the classroom does not allow the possibility of going to the classroom to all the students enrolled, in Due to sanitary instructions or from the competent authorities, the Center must facilitate the use of classrooms with possibilities of synchronous retransmission, by videoconference, for the rest of the student body enrolled in The subject. If relay equipment is not available, teaching may be carried out in non-modality face-to-face using the tools and resources available in the Digital Teaching Ring (ADD).

4.2. Learning tasks

The program offered to the student to help him achieve the expected results includes the following activities:

1. Exhibition / systematization of the following contents:

The legal system. Private right. Civil law.

Normative sources and jurisprudence. Application, integration and effectiveness of the rules.

The legal relationship and subjective law. Exercise and protection of rights. Private autonomy.

The subjects of the rights: the natural person. Personality rights and ability to act. Home, nationality and civil neighborhood. Civil registration.

Family legal relationships. Personal and patrimonial aspects. Private legal persons.

Patrimonial civil law. Obligations and damages law.

General theory of the contract and new forms of contracting.

Civil contracts for private economic activity. Contracting with consumers

The Heritage. Real rights and Property Registry

2. Analysis of concrete cases and situations (hypothetical or real).

3. Comments on legal texts, analysis of professional documents and judicial decisions, preparation of contracts, opinions, reports and memories.

4. Analysis and resolution of a complex practical case of civil law.

5. Autonomous learning or personal work of the student.

The student's personal work outside the classroom is essential for their learning; It may consist, among other activities in:

1. Directed reading and study of legislation and bibliographic material indicated by the professor in charge of the group.

2. Analysis and resolution of problems and cases raised by the teacher.

3. Search and analysis of legislation, jurisprudential resolutions and doctrinal materials proposed, where appropriate, by the professor.

4.3. Syllabus

1. The legal system. Private right. Civil law. 2. Normative sources and jurisprudence. Application, integration and standards effectiveness. 3. The legal relationship and the subjective right. Exercise and protection of rights. The autonomy private. 4. The subjects of the rights: the natural person. Personality rights and ability to act. Home, nationality and civil neighborhood. Civil registration. 5. Family legal relationships. Personal and patrimonial aspects. Private legal persons. 6. Civil property law. Obligations and damages law. 7. General theory of the contract and new ways of contracting. 8. Civil contracts for private economic activity. Contracting with consumers. 9. The heritage. Real rights and Property Registry.

4.4. Course planning and calendar

Calendar of face-to-face sessions and presentation of works

During the semester of course development, the activities and details of the course will be indicated through the ADD.

Programming to be carried out periodically, and the necessary materials will be included.

At the beginning of the course, the teachers will report the key dates related to the different activities of academic to be done, the dates of delivery of the proposed work, seminars, and other activities academic monitoring and supervision. The ADD will also be used to make the indications and forecasts general and to make materials and resources available to students.