Universidad Zaragoza

Academic Year/course: 2021/22

30518 - Mercantile law II

Syllabus Information

Academic Year: 2021/22
Subject: 30518 - Mercantile law II
Faculty / School: 102 - Facultad de Derecho
Degree: 432 - Joint Law - Business Administration and Management Programme
ECTS: 9.0
Year: 4
Semester: Second semester
Subject Type: Compulsory
Module:

1. General information

2. Learning goals

3. Assessment (1st and 2nd call)

4. Methodology, learning tasks, syllabus and resources

4.1. Methodological overview

The methodology applied in this course is oriented to the achievement of the learning goals, highlighting the following ones:

- To bring students to be a co-participant in the learning process, encouraging his/her perseverance and attitude of being in a continuous learning process.

- To facilitate cross-disciplinary education.

- To educate in social and ethical values.

- To educate in quality, promoting the teaching based on active methodologies.

Learning tasks are implemented by means of active teaching methodologies, officially recognized in several educational innovation projects of the University of Zaragoza.

4.2. Learning tasks

The learning tasks that will be developed in order to archive the learning objectives are:

1) Interactive theory sessions

The teaching sessions devoted to the presentation of the basics of this course aim to present the structure and main concepts of the subject matter, helping students to understand the newest and most complex issues. Hereby students achieve the learning goal number 1 as specified in this document and set the foundations for the achievement of the resting objectives. The methodology followed in these lectures is the interactive lecture class.

Credits: 2,0 ECTS.

2) Dynamic activities developed by professors and students

These activities may involve discussion of cases, practical sessions inside and outside the classroom, as well as seminars. These activities are considered to be essential tools to approach students to a legal discipline as Commercial and Business Law, where practice has got a very high relevance.

These learning tasks allow students to achieve learning goals numbers 2 to 6 as specified in this document. From a methodological point of view, these tasks are implemented by means of the defense and discussion of legal cases.

Credits: 1,5 ECTS.

3) Autonomous learning of students, tutorials, drafting of theoretical and practical assignments and assessment activities

The methodology is adapted for each type of task (face-to-face tutorials, group tutorials, formative assessment, theoretical and practical written assessments, guided assignments).

Credits: 5,5 ECTS

4.3. Syllabus

Commercial and business law II (tools for business and trade, insolvency and maritime business and trade)

1. Tools for business and trade (I): regulation on securities and payment instruments.

2. Tools for business and trade (II): commercial and business contract law.

3. Insolvency law

4. Maritime law

4.4. Course planning and calendar

The planning and scheduling of sessions and tasks will be specified by the professor in charge of each group at the beginning of the course according to the academic calendar and the syllabus of the Law Faculty.

STUDENT?S WORKLOAD DISTRIBUTION:

Onsite activities

- Theory sessions: 51 hours

- Practice sessions: 36 hours

Off-site activities

Autonomous study and preparation of onsite sessions and practice tasks: 120 hours

Preparation of the final exam: 18 hours

Total workload: 225 hours (9 ECTS)