4.1. Methodological overview

The methodology followed in this course is oriented towards the achievement of the learning objectives. A wide range of teaching and learning tasks are implemented, such as lectures, practice sessions, a project and tutorials.

This course aims at training students to develop and apply mainly the skills of reading and writing across academic situations they will have to cope with in their future career as occupational therapists. Students have already studied Scientific English I and are familiar with the biomedical vocabulary they acquired during the previous course, enabling them to develop knowledge and vocabulary of their own profession.

By the end of the course, a student should: (a) understand and use the writing process including brainstorming, drafting, revising (b) identify problems in his or her writing (c) know how to evaluate other students' writing and comment upon it (d) be able to revise his or her writing according to the feedback from other students and the teacher.

4.2. Learning tasks

This course is organized as follows:

- Lectures (50 hours). The teacher explains the theoretical foundations with the support of photocopies, online resources, videos and suggests activities so that students know how to apply what they have learned. Peer tutorial, and revision. Individual and Group work.
- Practice sessions. The teacher will assess students to develop skills in researching, evaluating information, organizing, arguing, responding to others' arguments, analyzing, and expressing themselves clearly in writing. Students have the opportunity to put into practice the knowledge they have acquired during the lectures. The teacher provides students with tools and resources they need. Sometimes the teacher will give students a list of possible questions or themes, and other times they will have the freedom to choose their own topic.
- Project. During one of the practice sessions, the teacher will explain the objectives and provide students with guidance about the development of their projects. Each student will have to prepare an oral presentation about a topic related to Occupational Therapy. They will have to defend their project following the right steps assessed in class. The oral presentation is expected to demonstrate that students are competent in grammar, vocabulary, pronunciation, intonation, design and originality. The Writing Process: Each student should take his or her research essay through the stages of brainstorming ideas, drafting, peer tutorial, and revision.

- Tutorials. The teacher will clear doubts of individual students and guide them to overcome problems during the course.
