4.1. Methodological overview

The methodology followed in this course is oriented towards the achievement of the learning objectives. It is based on expository teaching and participatory techniques that favor the acquisition of the theory concepts and the involvement of students in their learning process. A wide range of teaching and learning tasks are implemented, such as lectures, practice sessions and tutorials.

In addition to scheduled classes, students will have to make an effort to learn to manage and become familiar with the fundamental contents of the subject, with the continued support of tax law.

4.2. Learning tasks

This course is organized as follows:

- Theory session (1.2 ECTS). Two-hours session per week. The teacher will explain the essential points to approach each topic, using exercises to show the application of fiscal rules.
- Practice sessions (1.2 ECTS). Two-hours session per week. Three types of activities will be undertaken:
  - Activities in which students will learn theoretical concepts also taking an active part, applying these concepts to exercises.
  - Problem solving.
  - Continuous assessment problem solving.
- Tutorials (0.64 ECTS: 16 hours). It consists of 8 activities, 2 hours each. They allow a more direct and personal support of students, explaining doubts about the contents of the subject, guiding them in the study and resolution of exercises. They can be individual or by groups. They can be developed in those groups and centers where group tutorials are developed.

- Autonomous work and study (2.88 ECTS: 72 hours). They allow the student to acquire the necessary skills to overcome the subject, autonomously, so that with the handling of legislative compilation and the resolution of the cases proposed in class all the skills required are mastered.
- Final exam (0.08 ECTS: 2 hours).

In principle, the teaching delivery methodology is expected to pivot around face-to-face classes. However, if necessary for health reasons, face-to-face classes may be taught semi-face-to-face or online.
