1. General information

2. Learning goals

3. Assessment (1st and 2nd call)

4. Methodology, learning tasks, syllabus and resources

4.1. Methodological overview

The aim of the Dissertation is to enable students to apply and develop a range of skills and competences acquired throughout the Degree. Students are expected to show their competence in planning, writing and defending a piece of research on a topic. This process is mainly based on the student's autonomous work but his/her progress will be supervised by a supervisor in tutorials throughout its development.

4.2. Learning tasks

The student is expected to attend an online course in which guidelines for initial dissertation preparation will be provided.

To prepare the dissertation draft, the student is expected to engage in autonomous work (use of the library, reviewing the literature, writing the draft of the dissertation and revising the draft).

Additionally, the student can set up regular appointments for an office hour consultation.

4.3. Syllabus

There will be no classes. The student will work with his advisor and defend his work to a jury composed by several members of the departments that collaborate in this degree.

The School will publish the schedule of the presentations in advance.

4.4. Course planning and calendar

Schedule of basic activities under the supervisor?s guidance:

1. Determining your topic, scope and purpose. It is strongly advised that the choice of topic and scope for your dissertation is completed by the first two weeks of the second semester.
2. Planning individual tutorials.

3. Progress reports (draft revisions).
4. Final editing and proofreading. The final version of the Dissertation will be handed to the supervisor with enough time before the deadline for official submission (at least two weeks is strongly recommended).

4.5. Bibliography and recommended resources

- There are no bibliographic records for this course.
