

Academic Year/course: 2022/23

62051 - Federalism and constitutional justice

Syllabus Information

Academic Year: 2022/23

Subject: 62051 - Federalism and constitutional justice

Faculty / School: 102 - Facultad de Derecho

Degree: 582 - Master's in Public Administration Law

ECTS: 3.0

Year: 1

Semester: First semester

Subject Type: Compulsory

Module:

1. General information

2. Learning goals

3. Assessment (1st and 2nd call)

4. Methodology, learning tasks, syllabus and resources

4.1. Methodological overview

The master will be taught in virtual mode, a fact that will allow access to the degree to those people who, due to their location, p
In general, the following activities will be carried out in each of the subjects taught in the Master:

a) Introductory Activities

Activities aimed at making contact and collecting information from students and presentation of the subject.

b) Webinars

The webinars will be virtual activities intended to deal in depth with topics specific or complex and topical issues of each subject personal exchanges between attendees (virtual mode).

c) Practical cases / case studies

For the acquisition of the skills of the degree and achieve the objectives of learning specific to each subject students will carry c studies or resolution of practical assumptions, so that the student will be required to elaborate an argued solution to an issue, s

d) Reading of written / graphic documentation prepared

Reading and working of the documentation published in different formats, with the aim to facilitate the development of more the

for students and those knowledge necessary for the development of practical activities. I know will use virtual environments to teaching, but may require students search for the appropriate documentation sources for each activity.

e) Works

Academic work carried out by the student in person that does not allow develop understanding and application of content, use :

organization of information, the capacity for critical reflection, etc.

f) Personalized attention

The teacher will personally attend the students both in person (in the established tutoring hours), such as virtual (email or video other means through the virtual platform) providing the information required by the students, advising both the development of t

4.2. Learning tasks

a) Introductory Activities

Activities aimed at making contact and collecting information from students and presentation of the subject.

b) Webinars

The webinars will be activities intended to deal in depth with topics specific or complex and topical issues of each subject, through exchanges between attendees.

c) Discussion forums

The discussion forum provides learning in a virtual environment to work the readings and the practical assumptions. It is an activity individually or in groups reduced students defend positions based on argumentation legal on a certain topic.

d) Practical cases / case studies

For the acquisition of the skills of the degree and achieve the objectives of learning specific to each subject students will carry out questions or make a global reflection.

e) Reading of written / graphic documentation prepared

Reading and working of the documentation published in different formats, with the aim to facilitate the development of more the for students and those knowledge necessary for the development of practical activities. They will use virtual environments to support each activity.

f) Works

Academic work carried out by the student in person that does not allow develop understanding and application of content, use of organization of information, the capacity for critical reflection, etc.

g) Personalized attention

The teacher will personally attend the students both in person (in the established tutoring hours), such as virtual (email or video other means through the virtual platform) providing the information required by the students, advising both the development of the participation in discussion forums and seminars, will also provide the explanations necessary to improve the monitoring of the

4.3. Syllabus

- Constitutional Justice Models.
- The distribution of competences in the autonomous state.
- The processes of control of constitutionality of the law.
- The Constitutional Court and the territorial distribution of power: conflicts of competition.
- Control of the separation of powers.
- The limits of constitutional justice.
- The decisions of the Constitutional Court: types, effects according to the process and consequences.

4.4. Course planning and calendar

It is important that the student is clear about the weekly planning of the subject from the beginning to organize your study. With at the beginning of the responsible teacher will deliver a schedule of the subject indicating:

- The start and end of each topic
- The start and delivery of each activity
- The weight in the note of all the activities.

4.5. Bibliography and recommended resources

They are provided to the student through the virtual platform.